Sunday Reflection: 'This poor widow put in more than all the others'

A monk in his travels found a precious stone and kept it. One day he met a traveller and when he opened his bag to share his provisions with him, the traveller saw the jewel and asked the monk to give it to him. The monk did so readily. The traveller departed overjoyed with the unexpected gift of the precious stone that was enough to give him wealth and security for the rest of his life. However, a few days later he came back in search of the monk, found him, gave him back the stone and entreated him: "Now give me something much more precious than this stone, valuable as it is. Give me that which enabled you to give it to me."

The ache of Autumn in us

Autumn air does a heart-dance on branches already gone barren;
the misty air clings to golden leaves, making the trees bend ever lower.
It is a season to hold the trees close,
to stand with them in their grieving.
It is a time to open my inner being to the misty truths of my own good-byes.
Unless the wheat seed dies. It cannot sing a new birth.
Unless summer gives in to Autumn, springtime will never embrace me.
