Sunday Reflection: 'The spirit of the Lord is upon me. He has anointed me to bring good news to the poor, to proclaim liberty to captives and to give new sight to the blind; to free the oppressed and announce the Lord's year of mercy.'

These words from today's Gospel have been referred to as Jesus's "Platform Speech", in which he sets out the priorities of his own life and ministry. He was someone who broke from the restrictive and elitist boundaries of the time. He spoke in favour of the hated Samaritans; he selected public sinners to be his favourite table companions; he reached out to touch lepers, the sick, the beggars, all the untouchables; he showed respect for all women including the adulterous ones; he pointed to one of the detested Roman soldiers as a man of faith. He chose his apostles from the less respected classes including one from the revolutionary party of the Zealots and another from the seamier side of the establishment, a tax collector.

Sadly, many of Christ's 'followers' in today's world are so concerned about respectability and political correctness that they put chains on themselves and others by their hostile attitudes towards homeless, travellers, refugees and other marginalised groups.
